MEMPHIS, July 22.—The Avalanche this forenoon contains the following card:
"MEMPHIS, July 21, 1871.
Before and since my arrival in Memphis this day, my attention has been called to slanderous articles in certain Radical newspapers which attempt to connect me with the case of Mrs. Higby, who, it is falsely stated, was traveling under my charge. It is deemed due to myself, as well as to my personal friends, to state unequivocally, and without delay, that the story, in whole and in all its essential parts, is purely a fabrication, the invention of malice, and is thereby pronounced utterly false.
(Signed) "JEFFERSON DAVIS."

WASHINGTON CITY.

Explosion and Destructive Fire.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Three o'clock this forenoon an explosion occurred in a small magazine of the Washington arsenal, which is used for the signal corps. The explosion was followed by an alarm of fire, causing a serious conflagration involving the loss of at least $1,000,000 worth of Government property. The flames communicated to a frame building near by, and spread therefrom to what is known as Storehouse No. 2, in which were stored all kinds of cavalry and artillery equipments. In this building was a model room, or museum, in which was stored all kinds of models, etc., of foreign arms and equipments, which is a serious loss to the Government, aside from the mere intrinsic value of the articles destroyed. It is supposed the explosion was the result of spontaneous combustion. The fire also communicated with a dwelling and outbuilding, in which was stored saddle-trees and other equipments. The buildings to which the flames were communicated were totally destroyed, and several small houses near the large buildings were injured.

The testimony before the investigating committee in the matter of the Sheriff's office and the management of the county jail, to-day, goes to show that fees for the board of transient prisoners, from other counties, are looked upon as perquisites of the jail keepers, and as such appropriated by them. Sheriff White testified that the management of the jail was confided by him exclusively to deputies, and the abuses, if any existed, were perpetrated without his knowledge or consent. The investigation is still going on.
Lt. Governor Trutch, of British Columbia, now here, will await the arrival of ex-Governor Musgrave on the H. B. M. steamer Sparrow Hawk, from Victoria.

A tremendous fire is raging this evening on Fremont, Fremont and First streets, among the lumber, sash, door and planing mills. The Mechanics' Mill, the most extensive in the city, and at least a dozen other shops and tenements are already destroyed. The loss will probably exceed $100,000. A high wind spread the flames with astonishing rapidity.
The fire caught in Mechanics' Mill, on Mission, near Fremont—No. 16—and extended rapidly to the building adjoining, occupied by Ben. Freeman, State Builder, then to the building adjoining (east), used as a saw and planing mill and a number of tenements; thence the flames leaped across Fremont street, igniting Garratt's brass foundry, J. M. Stockman's pattern manufactory, Bolles' liquor saloon, S. P. Whipple's coal yard on Mission street, on the Fremont street side, Mallon's glass cutting and graining establishment; the boiler shop of the Pacific Iron Works, all of which, with their contents, were totally destroyed. Dobrenski & Co.'s brass finishing and gas meter manufactory was also badly damaged by fire and water, but not wholly destroyed. Losses, so far as known—Metropolitan Gas Co., destruction of meters, $1,000; Dobrenski & Co., $23,000; D. H. Freeman, $10,000; Howland & Co., reducing works in Freeman's building, $50,000; John Malon, $7,000; Mechanics' Mills, $30,000 to $40,000; Pacific Boiler Works, $20,000; Garratt, brass foundry, $8,000; Stockman, $7,000; Whipple, $3,000; Vulcan Iron Works, to building only, $3,000; and many minor losses—probably not 75 per cent. covered by insurance. The total loss will not fall under $250,000. 80 to 100 men are thrown out of employment.
In the case of Kelly vs. McGlynn in the United States Circuit Court, brought to set aside the Broderick will, under a special act of Congress, permitting District Courts to re-examine certain cases, Judge Sawyer rendered a decision to-day, concluding as follows:
This act does not purport to increase chancery jurisdiction at all; it merely provides that certain court may investigate these questions—that is to say, Districts Courts of the State. It does not purport to affect conclusiveness of judgment or to change judgment at all, except that it confers a jurisdiction to re-investigate a certain class of cases upon a particular court—that is to the District Court—creates new rights as well as a new remedy, and especially if it include past transactions. If it included this judgment it not only conferred a remedy, but gave a right, and with that right it prescribes the mode in which the remedy must be had. I don't think it extends the remedy to National Courts, or extends their equity or jurisdiction. On both these grounds, therefore, I think that the act does not confer a remedy which did not before exist. I think, so far as this Court is concerned, the judgment is still conclusive. On either of these grounds (if these are sufficient) it is not necessary to investigate either of the other objections. I am satisfied, therefore, that the bill in this case presents no ground for equitable relief, and no ground that a court of equity ever did recognize as a ground of relief, and that none is now conferred upon this court, and consequently there is no equity in the bill, and the demurrers to the bill are sustained and the bill dismissed.
The Democratic meeting was one of the largest seen in this city for several years—twice as large as that of the Republicans last night. Calling to the meeting to order by the hour of organization it is impossible to give a synopsis of the proceedings to-night.
The Spanish Americans organized a Republican Campaign Club, one hundred strong, last night.
A race was to-day taken on the morning train to Vallejo, by J. P. Hopper, Republican, and A. A. Bennett, Democrat, resulting: Booth, 29 Haight, 11. On the boat from Vallejo, 50 avowed a preference for Booth and 15 for Haight.
An extension of city railroad on Third street was inaugurated this afternoon. A finely caparisoned car, drawn by four white horses, conveyed members of the city press, capitalists, landowners and others, to the present terminus, a beautiful grove, which must become a favorite resort.
G. N. Brown, of Nevada, drew the $10,000 prize in the Sacramento lottery. A lawsuit will probably be instituted concerning the $10,000. It is said to have fallen to a poor laundress here, but another claim has been preferred. Checks for prizes will be paid at E. P. Hastings & Co's banks, next Wednesday.
In the matter of the alleged assault upon Mrs. Higby, nothing new has been elicited, but the opinion that the story is too thin is more fully confirmed in the minds of detectives and others who have investigated the circumstances.

MISCELLANEOUS CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

Casualties.

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—Richard Donovan, who had many friends and acquaintances in Sacramento, died to-day on his farm in Union township, Sutter county. His death was the result of an accident which occurred in the following manner. Last Sunday evening he was driving his team toward Marysville, and going up the hill met the Catholic Priest of Marysville who was going to visit Sutt, coming down the hill. Some part of the priest's horse's harness, broke and became unmanageable. Donovan so managed as to stop the running steed, but in so doing lost control of his own team and fell or jumped from the wagon, receiving thereby such injuries as resulted fatally. He was a native of Ireland, 35 years of age and leaves a wife and one child.
A gentleman arrived from Lake Tahoe this morning, who informs us of the narrow escape from drowning of a pleasure party of San Franciscans on the Lake last Tuesday night. They had been out in the little sockle sloop steamer Emerald, and by some inadvertance on the part of the pilot when returning to port, she was run upon some rocks, breaking her propellor and straining her badly. The danger to all was imminent, and it needed the utmost circumspection to save their lives. Happily however, the boat did not spring a leak, and was finally put into safe anchorage, and the party made their way to Tahoe City.
San Jose, July 22.—Reuben Jones, a well known citizen of this county, committed suicide this afternoon.

NEVADA

Mining Accidents.

VIRGINIA, July 22.—Yesterday Thomas Thomas a miner working in the Ophir shaft, was badly hurt by a cage being accidentally lowered upon him while he was at work in the bottom compartment of the shaft.
UNIONVILLE, July 22.—A well caved to-day, burying a son of T. J. Hadley's alive, to the depth of twenty feet. The rock fortunately arched a few feet above him he is unharmed as yet, and communicates with those working to release him.

CURRENT NOTES.

The Gold Hill News forms the recent hanging of Kirk, at Virginia City by a Vigilance Committee, "a neck-tie sociable."
The New York Times of the 12th said in relation to the surrender of Mayor Hall to the mob: Among the Germans throughout the city where this matter is intelligently discussed, the cowardly action of the authorities in succumbing to a murderous mob, is regarded with earnest indignation, and is condemned in the severest terms.
The New York Herald begins an article on the "bloody 12th of July" with this: There is extant a small, badly drawn sketch which represents a ragged Irishman flourishing a shillelah, and near him a Scotch piper, with his pibroch under his arm. The Irishman is supposed to be saying, "play the Boyne Water softly, just to see how long I could stand it."
In his address at Granby, on the Fourth, Governor Jewell claimed that Connecticut has a greater percentage of children in school than any other State; that it has as high if not a higher standard of education, and that it has the most money in the savings banks per capita. He also said that he thought the census will show that the State has more wealth in proportion to the population than any other State.
The New York Times of July 5th has a three column statement of the debt of that city. It appears from its figures that the city and county debt on the 30th of April, 1871, was $84,441,180. It also appears that on the 31st of December, 1868, the county debt was $20,000; city, $23,676,010. Deducting sinking fund, the total city and county debt that year was $19,092,648. The Times shows that the Democratic scoundrels who rule New York have in the last four months increased the county debt $2,620,600, and the city debt $10,861,952. These are the fellows who make the loudest noise about the "extravagance and corruptions" about the Republican national administration.
The Sacramento Union of the 18th says: A call, signed by "many Germans," was issued by an evening paper yesterday, calling a meeting, to be held last night at the Academy of Music, at 8 o'clock precisely, for the purpose of forming a German Democratic Club. We called at the Academy at half past 8, but there were only some persons there, and one of them was the man who had the leasing of the hall.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

French Affairs.

VERSAILLES, July 22.—The Communists convicted by Military Commission at Marseilles have been sentenced to various terms of imprisonment.
In the Assembly to-day there was an excited debate upon the subject of petitions with reference to the temporal powers of the Pope. Thiers was chief speaker. He declared equivocally that while he would not do anything to compromise the policy of the country he would do his best to secure the Pope's independence. Gambetta followed in a speech approving the sentiments of Thiers. It was then referred to the Minister of Foreign Affairs.

German Troops Leaving France.

BERLIN, July 22.—The North German Gazette of to day announces that the German troops are evacuating the French Departments of Eure, Somme and Seine Inferior, and will at once return to Germany.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Internal Revenue Matters.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue decided in February, 1871, as to the liability of corporations to levy tax on interest coupons, that no tax could be withheld from interest coupons due and payable within five months from August 1st, 1870, and that interest due and payable subsequent to January 1st is taxable at the rate of two and a half per cent. if accrued prior to August 1st subsequent to December 31st, 1871. Certain companies, acting under this decision, only collected the proportion of tax accruing in 1871. On the 11th of May the Attorney General decided that the whole tax must be collected. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue revoked his former decision in accordance with that of the Attorney General, and, requested companies who had already acted under the other decision to pay the full tax instead of pro rata proportion. On their refusal to do so the question was submitted to the Treasury Department. Hazard, Solicitor of the Treasury Department, in his opinion, says the Commissioner of Internal Revenue's decisions when promulgated to the public, are laws on which applicants in this case have a right to act under all circumstances. I am of opinion that legally and equitably the Department is under the necessity of yielding to the present request and desist from enforcing the collection of the tax in question from companies who prefer an application.

Massachusetts Republican Convention.

BOSTON, July 22.—The Republican State Central Committee to-day decided to call a Convention for the nomination of candidates for Governor and State officers at Worcester on the 24th of September.

Indian Affairs.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A letter from Fort Sill, July 8th, says the Kiowa Indians have made efforts to induce the Cheyennes and Sioux to join them in war against the whites, but thus far have failed. They are at present among the Antelope hills on Canadian river.

OREGON.

The water reservoir at Salem will have an altitude of 95 feet above the town.
A massive Gothic window frame, thirty-eight feet high, has been completed at Salem for Monmouth College.
The Yaquina Bay Wagon Road, built by a land grant, will soon be opened and toll charged thereon.
The fall term of Wallamet University will commence in September. That of Pacific University will begin in August.
The Statesman says that an altercation took place at Salem a few days ago between Dr. Belt and Bill Watkinds. The latter drew a revolver, but quickly put it back when the Doctor "went down" after another.
From the Mountaineer: From all portions of our county we learn that early accessions of population are being received. They come up the river

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 24, 1871.

A Few More Words with Our Catholic Contemporary.

The Catholic Sentinel of Saturday contains some further comments on the New York riots and on our reply to some of its observations of the preceding week upon them. In this article the Sentinel starts fairly enough, but there seems to be a singular want of consistency between the first and the last portions of the article. A disclaimer is entered against any desire to have had the Orange demonstration prohibited because it was "distasteful to Irish Catholics." Then follows this statement:

> As already observed, we do not wish to be understood as at all trying to vindicate any party for presuming, by force, the peaceable assembly of those with whom they might happen to differ, either politically or religiously.

We do not know that we quite understand the above. The words "by force," may mean much more than would appear at first blush. Our neighbor would not attempt to justify any party for preventing "by force" a peaceable assembly of its opponents. But would it justify such party in preventing it by law, or by the terror of authority in power? In this country no party or sect, political or religious, can stand unless it is willing to concede to those who differ from it all the privileges which it claims for itself. We prefer to believe that the Sentinel stands on this ground, and trust that it would no more attempt to prohibit by law, or by the power of authority, the peaceable assembly of its opponents, than it would attempt to do the same thing by force or violence.

Yet we are sorry to say that what follows in the Sentinel's article is not particularly calculated to confirm the reader in this belief. We quote:

> In our comments upon the riot, we deprecated the course of Governor Hoffman in first, interfering with the action of the city authorities, notwithstanding—we believe that their action, prohibiting the insignificant Orange demonstration, would have been the best policy, as it would have preserved the peace of the city, saved many innocent lives and yet violated no particular principle of liberty and justice; and second, in calling out the military forces in such profusion, before there was any overt act committed against the law by any one, thus in a manner provoking a conflict by the very act of surrounding a small number of men, who wished to make public display of their love of tyranny and contempt for liberty, with a cordon of bayonets in order to protect them against a supposed attack. Thus the actual blame rests upon Gov. Hoffman, whose illadvised interference and ill-timed action in the premises, actually provoked the conflict.

This, in our judgment, as well as in the judgment of nearly the whole American people, ignores the principles of equal rights, toleration and maintenance of the laws. To preserve the peace by yielding to the clamor of a mob is not recognized in this country as the right way to do it. It seems strange that any one can say that Gov. Hoffman by calling out the troops "provoked the riot," that he "called out the forces before there was any overt act," etc. Last year the Orangemen were attacked and several of them killed. This year it was boldly proclaimed several days before the time appointed for the demonstration, that the procession, in case it appeared, would be attacked and every Orangeman would be "cut down." The Hibernian Societies published notices in the papers to the effect that they would not be on the line appointed for the procession, the members must assemble to "receive arms and final instructions." Were not these "overt acts?"

The Sentinel thinks no "particular principle of liberty would have been violated" by the prohibition of the demonstration at the order of the mob. This position is to us incomprehensible. If there is any more plain or essential principle of liberty than the right of assembly, we have not learned what it is. It has been deemed so important that it has been inserted in all our Constitutions. The Sentinel says it "would even be in favor of prohibiting Catholic demonstrations if, by such means only, peace could be preserved and lives saved." We would not. We would insist on the right of Catholics to go on with their peaceful processions or demonstrations, and if necessary would call out the military to protect them and pitilessly shoot any mob or crowd that should interfere with them. And we fancy that the Sentinel, if a Catholic demonstration were forbidden by the authorities because its opponents threatened to attack it, would begin to inquire indignantly if this were a free country, and would hardly be disposed to admit that "no particular principle of liberty or justice had been violated."

A Little More About Water.

Again comes the agent of the Portland Water Company. Pretending to reply to what we said on Saturday, he very judiciously avoids the principal question. He dwells on the allegation that the taxes at Binghamton, N. Y., are $4 60 on the $100; but declines to answer whether these taxes may not be attributable to other things than water works. The lesson he would teach, however, is this: Binghamton has constructed water works. Taxes in that city are $4 60 on the $100. Ergo, Portland should not construct water works. This is not the precise formula used, but the only possible object in harping so much on Binghamton taxes is to convince citizens of Portland that they cannot afford to bring a supply of water into the city, and that if they do undertake the enterprise they will be taxed enormously, as the citizens of Binghamton are. We have already exploded this fallacy, and need not repeat what has been said before. A tax of fifty cents on the $100,—taking no account of receipts for water,—would pay the interest on the money required to construct the works; and as the city grows the same tax would soon also produce enough to pay the principal. Under this state of facts it is not apparent how the construction of water works could carry our municipal taxes up to $4 60 on the $100. It is more than probable, indeed, that the receipts for water would soon pay cost of operation and interest, and provide a sinking fund to extinguish the principal, so that a tax for the purpose would not long be required. We would remind this "star" writer, (who seems to shine as many stars do, by borrowed light,—the present water company in this case being the effulgent orb from which the glory is reflected), that the objections which he urges against the Holly system from a tarpaying point of view might be urged with equal force against every other system.

Another Refusal to Surrender.

The Eugene Guard fulminates in another long article against the new principles adopted by its party. It congratulates itself, however, that "the last political novelty," known as the "new departure," has "but few sincere advocates in Oregon." The Democratic party, it declares, proposes to overthrow the constitutional amendments and the accompanying legislation. And, according to the Guard, they must make the fight openly and boldly. We quote the final paragraph from the article in that paper:

> Hence, we oppose the eleventh hour gospel of the "new departure." We spurn it as the abandonment of popular right and imperative justice; we denounce it as repugnant to every principle of self-government; we abhor it as a trick of demagogism, brought forth at a time when severe statesmanship alone was demanded. We believe that there is an hour in the history of every political party, when it will load popular sentiment to victory, but that the sunlight of that hour never dawns upon cowards. Let us not surrender to a corrupt and venal administration the principles upon which we have opposed it, but fight it out manfully and trust to Divine Justice the hopes of a triumph that shall greet a great party which refuses to falsify its history for the paltry greed of political booty.

We hope to see the Common Council take action as speedily as possible upon the Mayor's suggestions relative to the purchase of the blocks in Park Row. The city should lose no more time in this matter, but take measures at once for opening a thoroughfare which will an ornament to the city and to make it attractive for those who come here in quest of homes. The opening and beautifying of this avenue, by making Portland attractive, will be worth in its results far more to the city than the sum it will cost. Such an improvement will not only enhance the value of all property in the city, but it will be the means of inducing many people to make homes here, who otherwise would not receive so favorable an impression of the place. Let us have action upon the matter.

The Eugene Guard seems to be departing from the orthodox Democratic faith. It speaks of a recent difficulty with laborers on the railroad above Eugene City and the refusal of the men to work except under their own "boss," and on their own terms; says that Superintendent Hallett immediately put on a large number of Chinese in their places, and adds: "If the Christian white man won't attend to business the only resort is to the unconverted Mongolian." We do not utterly despair yet of beholding the day when some rays of common sense will illuminate the Democratic mind on this point.

The Water Question Again—Common Sense versus the "Science."

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

SIR: The Bulletin of the 20th and 22d inst. each contain an article on the Holly system of water works over the signature of "", which the writer evidently supposes to be highly scientific, logical and lucid expositions of the faults of that system—merits, in his view, apparently, there are none—and running a tilt against the facts which have been developed concerning it during the eight or nine years in which it has been in operation in Eastern cities, he draws from his own weak understanding, a long array of figures, intricate calculations and illustrations not one of which have any point or sense, to prove that it is wholly impracticable and worthless here.

I propose to examine as briefly and concisely as possible some of the fearful blunders into which this bright genius has been betrayed; first saying that although "I know but little about hydraulics," and am neither an engineer, a scientist or even an architect, I claim to have ordinary sense and decent powers of observation and discernment, qualities in which the aforesaid brilliant genius has shown himself to be sadly deficient. He either knows [illegible] examined it to very little purpose.

He said in his first article (July 16th), that Holly's system differs in no essential particular from any other pumping machinery, except that it is furnished with a telegraphing arrangement for use in fire emergencies, etc. Now that, although a very essential characteristic, is minor in importance to another, which is the "regulator." This regulator governs the pressure of the pipes so that it is maintained at all times and under all circumstances at the point to which it may be set. Thus if it be set to a pressure of 30 pounds to the square inch it keeps the engine or other motive power continually at the speed requisite to maintain that pressure under the constantly varying rates of consumption from the mains, and the same if it be set to any other pressure, but of this more anon.

In the article of the 20th inst. he makes the following statement:

> As the pumps are to be driven by one engine, from one line shaft, they must all have the same relative motion [illegible] that is, if the speed of No. 1 is increased four times say to two hundred revolutions, No. 2 is increased four times say to three hundred and twenty revolutions, No. 3 is increased four times say to eight hundred revolutions.

In other words there is no mechanical device by means of which one out of a number of pumps, all run by the same engine, can be made to receive greater or less motion without at the same time changing the motion of the others in the same degree! The absurdity of such an assertion makes it hardly worth refuting. Without any great exertion I can think of a number of simple devices to accomplish such an object, and so can anybody who has ever visited a machine shop, factory or other place where machinery is in motion, and noticed one shaft carrying drums of various sizes over which the revolving band gives greater or less motion to different machines according to the size of the drums borne by them, and the ease and rapidity with which the band can be shifted to larger or smaller drums placed along side of those around, which it had been revolving. And this is but one way in which a pumps could have its motion vastly increased without changing that of its neighbor in any marked degree. The thing is too plain that further attention to it is unnecessary.

In the article published on the 22d inst. a long demonstration to show the time which would be required to communicate the fire signal from a hydrant to the engine at the works, three miles away, and get the return pressure at the hydrant; it entered into the conclusion of which is that it would take 7 minutes and 16 seconds for the signal to reach the works, and the same for the pressure to get back to the hydrant, in all 14 minutes and 32 seconds!

What an astounding proposition is this! Was ever credulity called upon to swallow a heavier dose! The wonder is that it should be offered to an intelligent community. It would have us believe that the impulse of motion cannot be communicated through a confined body of water under a given pressure any quicker than the water itself under the same pressure can travel; that the time required to force water through a pipe under a given pressure is the same as is required to impart the impulse of increased or diminished pressure through the water; that if water flowing through a pipe under an impelling force sufficient to produce a pressure of thirty pounds, and a velocity of three miles in seven minutes and sixteen seconds, and the impelling force be suddenly withdrawn, the water must continue to flow from the three-mile end of the pipe for that length of time—or until it had all run out; and that, the pipe being full of water, if the impelling force be again applied, it will be seven minutes and sixteen seconds before the water will flow from the end of the pipe; in short, it requires us to believe that if a pump is forcing water through a pipe three miles long and up an elevation high enough to cause a pressure of thirty pounds, and the pump be suddenly stopped, the water must continue to flow uphill until it has all run out of the pipe; or, reversing the process, if the pipe be full of water, when the motion of the pump is resumed, it cannot discharge at the end until the eventful seven minutes and sixteen seconds have elapsed!!! Ridiculous as these suppositions are, they are but the logical deductions from the laws of hydrodynamics advanced by our wise man.

The facts in connection with this portion of the Holly system, as abundantly shown in experiments at several places, are that the time consumed in transmitting the signal from a hydrant and getting the increased pressure is but a few seconds. Even though the distance from the pumps be three or four miles, so that the hydrant is approached, opened, closed and the hose attached, the water under the desired pressure is always ready as soon or before the hose can be unreeled and the pipe attached.

Our scientific and well-informed writer next attempts to show by another long array of figures and the analogy of experience under our present reservoir system that a serviceable supply of water under the Holly system would be limited to the capacity of the hydrant, and that that even would be less than a hand fire-engine could throw. This fact proves conclusively the assertion that he knows nothing at all about what he writes with such assurance and learning—save the mark! The regulator which I have before mentioned attends to this business, and no matter whether one or a dozen hydrants are opened each one will furnish a serviceable stream, equal to—generally beyond—the efforts of the best steam fire-engines.

The following testimonial is given by the Mayor, Chief Engineer and City Surveyor of Auburn, N. Y., a place twice as large as Portland:

> We have now about sixteen miles of mains laid in the city, of twelve, ten, eight, six and four inches diameter, to which are attached some 140 fire hydrants, and at all times a constant and abundant supply of water has been furnished.
> FOR FIRE PURPOSES WE HAVE NO NEED OF FIRE ENGINES, if there is a sufficient supply of hose to reach from the nearest hydrant. The pumps are of sufficient power to force the water directly from the hydrants, through any reasonable length of hose, far above the highest buildings, and without any perceptible difference whether one or a dozen streams are thrown at the same time.

As a protection against fires, we regard the plan adopted as especially invaluable, being not only less expensive but of greater efficiency than that ordinarily obtained by reservoirs and the force of gravity, or by steam fire-engines.

We think four years experience has fully tested the Holly system of Water Works, and proved it superior to any other, not only as a protection against fire, but for all private uses, as the pressure can be constantly kept up, and regularly supply the highest points and highest buildings. In the four years use we have not experienced any difficulty for private uses by the additional pressure in case of fire.

It will be useless to say in reply to this that the Auburn Works are run by water power; that the city is nearly level, etc., etc., as that would be a dodging of the question in hand, which if whether or not the Holly system can and does do what it claims, since the testimony as to its operation in other places with steam power is abundant and, if possible, more emphatic than the above, and instances could be cited almost without number if time and space permitted.

The writer of the articles under review evidently finds it to his interest to "write down" the Holly system and to try and create a public sentiment averse to its introduction here, or even to a candid discussion of its merits. The first objection which he sprung, had some point and merit in it. It was satisfactorily explained away, and now he raises difficulties and objections purely imaginary and which will not stand a moment's investigation, and in the spirit of a true demagogue appeals to the esprit du corps of the Fire Department, involving its powerful opposition. His estimate of the intelligence of our Firemen must be very low, indeed, if he thinks them credulous enough to swallow the childish nonsense which he has been dealing out to them during the last week. They have but to think a moment and they will see that the gospel of their established preacher is, on this question, far from being orthodox.

In all seriousness I would advise this writer to examine the Holly system carefully and see what it claims to do, how well it is calculated to do it and how nearly it has succeeded. He would not then make himself so ridiculous, nor bear the appearance of having been of science, where, abandoned alike by common prudence and common sense, he has fallen into the numerous pitfalls, which lie in wait to catch the unwary, self-confident traveler who ventures on those mazy paths without those needful guides.

PORTLAND, July 23, 1871.

From Yaquina Bay.

ELK CITY, BENTON Co., July 21, 1871.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

SIR: Since writing my last letter Mr. Hogg, one of the purchasers of the Yaquina Bay Wagon Road and the lands thereunto pertaining, has paid us another visit, and expressed himself much pleased with the country and its surroundings. The wagon road is being rapidly brought into good condition, and Mr. T. Bether's stage makes the trip from Corvallis (47 miles) in ten hours, connecting at Elk City with the steamer for Newport. We have had a considerable influx of visitors during the past week, and in course of conversation with a party who came from Salem yesterday, I was told that a considerable number had expressed their intention of paying our bay a visit. Messrs. Kellogg have commenced building a new stern-wheel steamboat at Pioneer for the Yaquina trade; she will be 80 feet long, well fitted up, and have new machinery; her enterprising owners intend to have her launched in about six weeks.

Messrs. B. Simpson and Thorne are prosecuting their searches into the newly discovered coal lead at Oysterville, which I hope will prove a success.

Mr. Monro, the builder of the Emerald, will lay down the keel of a barkentine 120 feet long, on his return from San Francisco. Mr. M. turned out a good craft in the Emerald, and we feel confident will follow suit in his next essay.

Mr. Newton has disposed of the whole town site here to Mr. M. W. Simpson, of the firm of Abby and Simpson. Mr. Newton has removed with his family to his farm near Corvallis.

The "yarn" about the late Capt. Sol. Dodge who was lost with the schooner Champion last year, turns out to be an abominable canard, got up apparently for the purpose of annoying his family. It had its origin in a sheet published in this county, which said paper was unable to produce its authority, when called upon so to do.

I see in almost all the newspapers continual complaints about the Indians (supposed to be on the reservations) being eternally prowling about our cities, committing petty thefts, begging and offending almost every sense. The squaws are the means of scattering filth and disease in our midst, quite as much as the "heathen Chinee," about whom such an everlasting fuss is made. In the neighborhood of the towns up the valley respectable women cannot take a walk without having their modesty shocked in ways too abominable to mention. If we are to be taxed to keep these noble savages on the reservations, and have well paid employees to look after them and keep them within bounds, let them do their duty and keep the gentle aborigines in their proper place. There are several points as to how the evil works, which with permission I will communicate in my next.

BEAVER.

THE STORY OF HUMAN NATURE is one of exceeding interest. But there is another theme of which I wish to speak, one more easily understood by the masses in general, and that is the extreme sensitiveness of the pocket. Perhaps the reader can recall instances which have occurred during a business life, illustrative of the above-mentioned fact. Hence, if you would gain a friend, replenish his purse; if you would realize the fortune of an enemy, evaporate his purse. Therefore, knowing the delightful sensation which may be produced by the former method of operation, I have chosen it, and I make the application simply by saving yourself from twenty to one hundred dollars in the purchase of Pianos and Organs, and furthermore, I guarantee my Instruments to give better satisfaction than any other to be found in the market.

REFERENCE—The great number of Instruments sold during the many years past at my Music Ware-Rooms.

P. S.—Bear in mind that a few minutes spent in my store, and in the purchase of a Piano or Organ will redound materially to the health of your purse.

Yours truly,

MONDAY MORNING, JULY 24, 1871.

CITY.

SEASIDE ITEMS.—From our Astoria correspondent, July 21st:

The Summer House is full of visitors, and there are a half dozen or more tents occupied by guests in the neighboring grounds.

The principal attractions of this place is its proximity to the rugged "Cape" (Tillamook Head), its sea beach, the beautiful mountain stream (teeming with fish from the sea and trout from the mountains) which flows by its door and falls into the ocean three miles to the north, its chowders and deviled crabs, and its wild and romantic scenery.

The Ocean House, three miles this side of the Summer House, has the benefit of Clatsop Beach, eighteen miles long, for "drives." The house and beds are new and clean, the landlord obliging and the fare good. Here you can get surf-bathing and fine water baths, smooth water at the mouth of the adjacent creek, and boat sailing in the creek and upon the beautiful Lake Ohana at the rear of the house. This lake is one-third of a mile wide and one and a half miles in length, and is fed by streams from the surrounding hills.

The early settlers here found Clatsop plains clothed with a luxuriant growth of grass, extending from the cranberry marshes along the foot-hills to the seashore. It was then almost an Edenic and could scarcely be excelled for beauty and fertility. But thirty years of constant grazing has broken and destroyed the sod upon the "Big Ridge," and now and for the last few years the winds have been driving the sand out upon the beautiful prairie, until many thousands of acres of fertile lands are reduced to a barren waste. The last Legislature, however, granted a charter to the town of Clatsop, which embraces the whole of Clatsop plains, which is to enable the land owners to enact laws to protect the sea ridge from the intrusion of cattle of all kinds. Beneficial results are already visible. Vegetation will soon grow up and check the agressive sand, and so redeem the "plains."

The Nika Bond sailed for Tillamook this morning.

The bark Amelia will complete her cargo of lumber at Cementville to-morrow and be ready for sea. The Live Yankee will probably sail on Monday.

The British bark Shielda, with railroad iron on board, will be off the bar with a pilot on board, and will probably be in this evening or to-morrow.

Bishop Morris, Dr. Hawthorne and about one hundred others went to Young's River Falls yesterday in the steamer U. S. Grant. About one-half the party encamped there over night. The Grant has gone after them. They report having had a gay time.

Weather cool and pleasant.

THE WRECK OF THE "OWYHEE."—A correspondent of the Bulletin furnishes the following particulars of the wreck of the steamer Owyhee on Snake river, on the 17th: "The steamer Owyhee, Captain Stump, left Wallula Monday morning at 4 o'clock, with about 30 lty WATTgers among whom were Hon. F. R. Mander, chairman of the Board of Indian Commissioners, and Jas. Mandon, Esq., Secretary. She had on board twenty Government mules, A few miles above Wallula, the boat ran on a rock, making a hole in her bottom. She kept on to Wallula, and immediately settled down, and is now lying with three feet of water on the lower deck. The boats of the ferry were hailed alongside and the passengers and baggage and mules of the freight were transferred to them. The mules swam ashore, overboard and swam ashore. It is supposed that the boat can be raised, and towed to Wallula. The accident was [illegible] by the piles jumping too near shore in passing the [illegible] which spans the river at the point where the [illegible] ity occurred."

SHIPPING ITEMS.—The Portland bark Fl[illegible], Peterson, master, sailed from Astoria on Saturday for the lower Columbia river, where she will complete her cargo for San Francisco.

The Hawaiian bark E. W. Wood sailed on Saturday with a portion of her cargo from this port for Honolulu. The freight consisted of lumber, flour, bran, etc. Salmon and lumber will be received at points on the Columbia river.

The English bark Shielda was off the bar Saturday morning with a pilot on board. She is expected here to-day.

The U. S. mail steamer Lincoln arrived at Victoria on the 17th inst.

The steamship California took the George S. Wright's mails and passengers on the 16th, and started for Sitka.

THEATRICAL PERSONALS.—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bates are about to open La Marcel Theater at Los Angeles, California.

Prof. Plummer (Lulu) gave readings at Gilroy last week. It is understood he will visit Portland again during the fall.

Mr. Jas. H. Vincent is still manager at the Metropolitan Theater, San Francisco, and Joe Murphy is playing a [illegible] engagement.

Figaro of the 15th says: "Mr. [illegible] instead of going East from White Pine, has returned to this city, very much disgusted. Blake Bess is in Sacramento."

Mlle. Jeal & Co.'s circus is advertised to appear at Victoria to-day.

THE WATER QUESTION.—The water question being discussed not only through the papers, but very generally among the people in their daily talks with one another. It is the question of the day. The opinion is almost universal that the people ought to have better water and more of it, rates, and that the city authorities begin to take steps at once to ascertain and then to adopt the best plan for furnishing it. There is some diversity

The sand is sure, however, to be granted a charter to the Town of Clatsop, which embraces the whole of these plains, which is to enable the land owners to make laws to protect the sea ridge from the incursions of cattle of all kinds. Beneficial results are already visible. Vegetation will soon grow upon and check the agressive sand, and so redeem the plains."

The Alvia Bond sailed for Tillamook this morning.

The bark Amelia will complete her cargo of lumber at Cassentville to-morrow and be ready for sea. The Live Yankee will probably sail on Monday.

The British bark Skiddaw, with railroad iron, is off the bar with a pilot on board, and will probably be in this evening or to-morrow.

Bishop Morris, Dr. Hawthorne and about one dozen others went to Young's River Falls yesterday on the steamer U. S. Grant. About one-half the party encamped there over night. The rest have gone after them. They report having had a gay time.

THE WRECK OF THE "OWYHEE."—A correspondent of the Bulletin furnishes the following letters of the wreck of the steamer Owyhee on the river, on the 17th: "The steamer Owyhee, Captain Stump, left Wallula Monday morning at 4 o'clock, with about twenty passengers among whom were Hon. F. R. Brunot, Commissioner of Indian Commissioners, and Miss K. Cree, his Secretary. She had on twenty Government mules; besides forty tons of other freight. At Umatilla Ferry, 25 miles above Wallula, the boat struck a rock, which stove a hole in her bottom. She began to fill immediately and settled down, and is now lying with three feet of water on her lower aft deck. Most of the ferry were hauled alongside and the passengers and baggage and most of the freight was transferred to them. The mules were driven overboard, and swam ashore. It is estimated that the boat can be raised and floated to the shore. The accident was caused by the pilot not keeping near enough to the shore in passing the ferry wire and striking the river at the point where the casualty occurred."

SHIPPING ITEMS.—The Portland bark Edward Patterson, master, sailed on Saturday for the lower Columbia river, where she will complete her cargo for San Francisco.

The Hawaiian bark R. W. Wood sailed on Saturday with a portion of her cargo from this port for Honolulu. The freight consisted of wheat, flour, bran, etc. Salmon and lumber will be received at points on the Columbia river.

The English bark Skiddaw was off the bar Saturday morning, with a pilot on board. She is expected here to-day.

The U. S. cutter Lincoln arrived at Victoria on the 19th inst.

The steamship California took the George S. Wright's mails and passengers on the 16th, and left for Bitkm.

THEATRICAL PERSONALS.—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Bates are about to open in Merced Theater, at Los Angeles, California.

Ned Plummer (Yankee) gave readings at Gilroy last week. It is understood he will visit Gilroy again during the present season.

Mr. Jas. H. Vinson is still manager of the Metropolitan Theater, San Francisco, and Joe Murphy is playing a six months' engagement.

Mr. Jeal & Co's circus is advertised to appear at Victoria to-day.

THE WATER QUESTION.—The water question is being discussed not only through the papers, but in six among the people, in their daily talk with one another. It is the question of the day. The opinion is almost universal that the city ought to have better water and at cheaper rates, and that the city authorities ought to make the experience to ascertain and then to adopt the best plan for furnishing it. There is some diversity of opinion as to the merits of the several plans proposed, but nearly everybody agrees that the present private works are something that we don't want to keep.

THE STEAMER CONSTANTINE.—The reports that the Constantine had been "laid up for repairs," and that she had "hauled off the route," prove to have been altogether false. She arrived here at eight o'clock last evening, with a full passenger and freight list—all right. She has not "hauled off the route," nor has she either been "laid up" for, or in need of any, "repairs." It is unaccountable that her sailing was not telegraphed from San Francisco.

PICNIC AT EAST PORTLAND PARK.—Gen. Tom Jose La Vega's picnic at East Portland Park was not very largely attended yesterday. The General has not been thus far very successful in raising a breeze among us. The fact is, we have got so many very good men, residents of the city, that one stranger don't make much of a show.

TROUBLE.—Another discovery of trichinæ has been made. Mr. Sutton, of the drug store, corner of First and Main streets, has a piece of ham which is infected. The discovery is anything but an agreeable one for pork eaters, but it may serve a good purpose by making people a little careful about the quality of meats they use.

STEAM FIRE ENGINE FOR WALLA WALLA.—The John L. Stephens brought up a Silsby steam fire engine for the town of Walla Walla. It is an elegantly finished piece of work, and is constructed so as to be run, at pleasure, by hand or with steam.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Philo Remington, who is said to be the inventor of the celebrated pistol bearing his name, is stopping at the St. Charles Hotel, having arrived from Victoria.

SPILLED OUT.—A carriage at East Portland, filled mostly with females, was upset yesterday, and the femininities were strewn like roses all over the ground round about.

COUNTY ROAD.—The road leading eastward from the terminus of Holladay-Avenue, is nearly completed. It will be ready for use as soon as the Avenue.

THE COURTS.

Saturday, July 22, 1871.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, J.—United States vs. J. L. Cummings; motion for new trial denied. Defendant sentenced to fine of $75, without costs.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, J.—Day commenced in argument of chancery cases, which were taken under advisement by the Court until Monday, July 24, 1871.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PACIFIC INSURANCE COMPANY.—It will be noticed by an advertisement, now to-day, that a change has been made in the agency of this company at Portland—Mr. H. Boyd retiring and Mr. Geo. F. Grant taking the place.

ARRIVAL OF THE CONSTANTINE.

"A SLIGHT COLD," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a "SLIGHT COLD" in its first stages; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, often attacks the lungs. A Perilous Season.

Glorious and delightful as the Summer weather is, its tropical heat is a severe trial to the vital powers. Even the strongest are sometimes prostrated by its effects. The common phrase applied to this condition of the body is "general debility." Now, general debility arises from, and includes a variety of ailments. The liver is more or less affected, the bowels are either constipated or too much relaxed, the stomach but half performs the work of digestion, the appetite is poor, and the spirits depressed. This is what is called general debility. It is a general derangement of all the physical functions, and requires as a remedy a medicine that will regulate them all. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted to this purpose. Its general operation is not confined to a single organ. If the liver is affected, it restores its tone. If the stomach is torpid, it regenerates it. If the nerves are tremulous and weak, it braces and reinforces them. If the mind, which ever sympathizes with the body, is gloomy and despondent, it relieves the difficulty, and soon brings the whole mechanism of the body into harmony with the laws of health.

There is no civilized nation in the Western Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, corrective and antibilious medicine, is not known and appreciated. Throughout the Tropics it is considered both by the people and the profession, the standard specific. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable stimulant in the world.

Beware of the bitters made of acrid and dangerous materials, which unscrupulous parties are endeavoring to foist upon the people. Their name is legion, and the public has no guarantee that they are not poisonous. Adhere to the tried remedy, Hostetter's bitters, sold only in glass, and never in kegs or barrels.

From "The Tale of the Tall Alcalde."

BY JOAQUIN MILLER.

Where mountains repose in their blueness,
Where the storm first finds in its newness,
And marshals his beams and his lances,
Ere down to the vale he advances—
With vigor erect, and rides swiftly
Of the terrible night to his envy,
And slays him, and with his sword deftly
Hews out the beautiful day!
Lay nestled the town of Eonalde,
Famed for its maids, its silver mine,
Famed afar for its mountain wine,
And farther famed for its tall Alcalde,
Famed was he for a heart like woman,
For a deep humanity more than human;
But a will and a way like a high-born lord—
Yet the kindest way and the kindest word—
Was passing clever and wise, and was Learned profoundly in all the laws.

* * * * * * *

And then from out the shadowed wood
The sunbered deer came stalking down
In half a shot of where I stood;
Then stopped and sniffed impatiently,
Then looked his head and antlers high,
Then shook his head and antlers threw—
And then his knee bone back and threw—
Upon his shoulders broad and brown,
And then with his nose he snuffed the air,
Bounded proudly, then a blast he blew,
As if to say the coast is clear,
And then from out the sable wood
His mate and two sweet dappled fawns
Stole forth, and by the mouth stood
She timid, while the little ones
Did start like supernatural gale,
Then they as if by no laws
Obeyed the trembling and remote,
Again his antlers back and threw,
Again a blast deemed blew,
Then led them proudly down the vale.

All About Soda.

THE MYSTERIES OF THE MANUFACTURE OF SODA WATER—ITS ORIGIN—GROWTH AND EXTENT OF MANUFACTURE AND CONSUMPTION.

[From the N. Y. Evening Mail.]

Why in the world that should be called soda water which isn't soda water at all, will, probably, hereafter constitute one of the problems of historical criticism. Saleratus will not the romantic creation that it is now, having been constituted by a single column of standard, with a couple or four, or eight radiant arms supplied with as many nozzles. This column might be (generally was) silver-plated; but nobody had yet thought of Lilliput palaces of different colored marbles that adorns the modern counter. After the standard came the urn of square boxes of white marble, which had a long run; and at last the Gothic palace, with silver doors and windows, and deft little nooks for the reception of cash, succeeded all lesser attempts at the esthetic. It was Herbert Spencer's theory of evolution (over again, with this exception, that, while in old days it was possible to equip a counter for a couple of hundred dollars, it now takes four or five thousand dollars to make a presentable appearance in the business, and there are drug stores in this city where not less that twenty thousand dollars have been expended on counters and fixtures.

THE QUESTION OF THE CONSUMPTION.

In point of facts, a great business has been developed out of comparatively small beginnings; and the fountain is the support of the modern Broadway drug store, having been instrumental in the metamorphosis which has occurred within the past ten years. But for his soda water trade the druggist would have been driven from Broadway long since. Colognes and nostrums could not have saved him—for of the former the sale is limited and the profit small, while in the case of the latter, cosmetics included, the profit is exceedingly limited, scarcely averaging the traditional ten per cent.

PROFITS OF THE BUSINESS.

The profit on soda water at ten cents a glass is, on the other hand, something enormous, the dispensation as a first class counter being enormous also. Cream and syrup included in the cost per glass is not more than one cent, and a couple of active boys can attend to a fountain dispensing five thousand glasses a day, which is by no means an exceptional trade. Last summer the largest number of glasses drank in one day at a single counter was eleven thousand, and eight thousand was the average of the season, Sundays excepted. The enormous income incident to an average dispensation of that number may be easily counted:

8,000 glasses at ten cents	$800
Cost of production	100
Profit per day	$700
Per week of six days	4,200
Wages of counter-boys per week	200
Profit over expenses	4,192

It is in this way that the modern Broadway drug store is rendered a paying institution; and the soda water fountain it is that pays the enormous rent of the modern apothecary palace, treacoes its ceiling and sculptures its upholsters it with Gothic timing and its numberless elegancies. Along the Bowery and on the avenues the profit is of course smaller, the price, per glass being only five or (exceptionally) six cents; but even here the margin of profit is ample enough to have given the modern drug store an elegance of fitting only excelled by that of the modern dry goods store.

SODA WATER AN AMERICAN DRINK.

It is an error to suppose as many have, that soda water is of European origin, the fact being that it was already known in Paris when the Exposition, which drew thither an exceptional host of Americans. Almost as rigidly an American institution it is as pork and beans, or was so previous to the Exposition, and in German cities even now it takes no rank as a summer drink, while in England it occurs with comparitive infrequency. It has not, therefore, yet received the stamp of cosmopolitanism—the Germans preferring lager, the Celtic races light alcoholic beverages, and the English beer.

It is said that the Oregon poet Miller, first arrested the attention of British critics by his way of introducing his new volume, as follows: "The City of Mexico was my Mecca, and San Francisco to me a marvel of magnificence and civilization. This last summer I crossed the Rocky Mountains, and for the first time saw New York—a great place for cheap books, and a big den of small thieves."

Emigration from Germany.

[Berlin Correspondence of the New York Times.]

The National Press expresses the hope some weeks back, that after Germany was regenerated, emigration to America would cease. Nay, the National Zeitung even triumphantly announced the supposed intended return of some thousands of German Americans. The hope is falsified by events. As the Allgemein Gazette—a paper invariably well informed—reports, emigration is, after a year's pause, doing its best to make up for lost time. Ships are filling as fast as they come into harbor, and the emigration offices are overrun with applicants. The paper referred to gives a curious account of the gains and losses of Germany by the war, which I consider interesting enough to include in my letter. The Gazette proves Germany to have actually gained workers—that is, office and counting-house workers as well as agricultural and factory laborers—by the war, in spite of her great losses. The losses of killed in battle, or immediately after, amount according to the official list to 19,207. At least two-thirds of this number must have died in later stages of illness and cure. Moreover ten or twelve per cent of the wounded, numbering 81,337, must have been disabled from work. Thus we have a total of 42,000. On the other hand, the war has stopped emigration to the number of about 30,000 persons; 80,000 have been expelled from France, and some ten thousand have been recalled for military service and are invailable for other work. Among the former 110,000 the Gazette considers about fifty thousand to be able bodied workers, whereas the latter are so to a man. Thus we have a gain of sixty thousand, against a loss of forty-two thousand. It would be thought that Government would be eager to keep these eighteen thousand in Germany. That it does not, argues the Gazette, speaks badly enough for the country. Here we have a great many men who have conquered the world for their Fatherland, but homes, free, unrestrained homes, liberty of conscience, a land of law and facilities for commerce, they must seek in distant countries, beyond the Atlantic, away in the very France which they have just vanquished, and to which Germany considers herself so immeasurably superior.

MR. TOOMBS ON THE NEW DEPARTURE.—This is the way Alexander H. Stephens' paper, the Atlanta (Ga.) Sun, tells how Toombs "frazzled" (to use its own term) the new departure in Washington, Ga., on the 4th:

"Gen. Toombs, we learn, made a Fourth of July speech to the largest crowd ever assembled in Wilkes county. The people came from far and near to hear him, and Washington was literally packed. The speech is reported to have been a thunder-storm of eloquent invective against the 'new departure,' and so powerful was it that the new political bantling was stripped of its swaddling clothes and then torn into frazzles and turned loose upon the whirlwind of his oratory. And it is now said that in all Wilkes county there is not a man who would willingly pick up a frazzle, or even admit that he was ever inclined to 'depart.'"
